A ROAD LESS TRAVELLED

RAYMOND BROWNELL

A fascinating exhibition opens at the GX Gallery, where Raymond Brownell's precise yet vibrantly coloured paintings take us along "a road less travelled" to explore original ideas inspired by the wonderful coherence of mathematics.

This stimulating exhibition is Brownell's fifth at GX Gallery. He has had other solo exhibitions in Brighton and Eastbourne, and participated in group exhibitions in London and the south-east, as well as in France, Australia and Japan. His work is held in the collections of Brighton College and Southampton City Art Gallery, and in private collections in the UK, USA, France, Australia and Japan.

Exhibition: February 18 - March 15, 2012

Gallery hours are Mon-Sat 9am-6pm. Admittance is free.

Artist Reception: Friday February 17, 2012 7:30pm

Raymond Brownell will be at the opening reception and we welcome you to come with friends and family to meet and talk with the artist. Artwork is available for viewing on receipt of this invite.
